

State Board of Education Ignores Governor, Parents and Own Policy-- Rubber Stamps Common Core Standards for Another 7 Years

Preempting the Arizona Standards Development Committee (ASDC) that was about to conclude 18 months of work, on December 19 the State Board of Education (SBE) voted to impose Common Core standards on all Arizona schools---likely at a tremendous cost to the state's recent education gains!

In 2010, the SBE adopted "Common Core" for Arizona schools. Parents and teachers soon started having difficulty learning and teaching them.

Like many government mandates, Common Core benefited those who place profits above our children's future. Children who loved math started to hate math. Children who loved writing started to hate writing. Parents recognized a problem. Sometimes, parents with engineering and math degrees couldn't help their children with basic arithmetic.

In March 2015, Governor Doug Ducey directed the SBE to "make right the situation...with full transparency," and allow "teachers and parents to bring [standards] forward together."

The SBE formed a 17-member committee (ASDC) representing parents, teachers, school administrators, and the business community from across Arizona, and tasked it with reviewing existing standards, developing better standards, and then making a recommendation to SBE.

The standards were reviewed primarily by "technical professionals" and largely pro-Common Core advocates. Public input was sought, but it's unclear how the opinions of parents and others with opposing viewpoints were considered.

On December 14, the SBE scheduled only three hours for ASDC to consider approval of the final draft math and ELA standards for K-12. The ASDC previously had no opportunity to discuss the latest standards as a group.

After 2.5 hours of SBE presentations and public comments, only 30 minutes remained for ASDC to discuss and responsibly consider recommending hundreds of pages of standards. Serious concerns remained and it was uncertain whether all public comments were incorporated. Several ASDC members requested additional time to "get it right." ASDC voted to delay further consideration and possible recommendation to SBE until a January 2017 meeting.

It appeared that ADE and SBE staff expected ASDC to "rubber stamp" the draft without delay. SBE's December 19 meeting agenda already included an item for approval of the standards, although ASDC had made no recommendation.

Shockingly, on December 19, SBE approved the standards, violating its own public policy which was to await the ASDC recommendation. The spirit of Governor Ducey's request was not honored. The public trusted the SBE to respect the governor's direction and allow a recommendation from ASDC after careful, thorough review and consideration of the standards.

Ironically, Superintendent of Public Instruction Diane Douglas, who promised in 2014 to "stop Common Core," voted in favor of these 'revised' standards, which are in large part the same Common Core standards SBE adopted in 2010.

As members of ASDC, we patiently listened to all sides, and objectively considered and respected all opinions. However, SBE prevented us from responsibly completing the task prescribed by SBE's own policy and by Governor Ducey. We were not allowed the time to adequately read and study the standards before we voted.

We respectfully ask Governor Doug Ducey to: 1] request that SBE rescind its improper vote, respect the public, and follow its own established policies; 2] appoint people to SBE who truly respect Arizona parents who are deeply concerned about public education in Arizona.

Respectfully Submitted by the following members of the State Board of Education's Arizona Standards Development Committee (ASDC):

Scott Leska; Public School District Elected Board Member
Grant Peterson; Middle School Parent
Dr. Richard Rutkowski; Business Community Member
Olga Tarro; Elementary School Parent
Maureen Tozzi; Business Community Member
Shawna L.M. Bolick; High School Parent

How Much of the CCSS Really Changed?

Below left shows that the standards have not changed much. Please take note that the coding is identical –which allows for easy data collection and reporting onto the new National Student Database (SLDS) that was created by the Obama Administration. The codes also direct teachers to pull up Common Core lesson plans.

The graphs on the right show the percentage of changes at K-3, the most controversial standards. K-3 also had the most changes which shows that even fewer significant changes occurred in grades 4-12.

Two Examples of How the Standards “Changed”

2016 3.MD.C.5 Understand area as an attribute of plane figures and understand concepts of area measurement.

a. A square with side length 1 unit, called “a unit square,” is said to have “one square unit” of area, and can be used to measure area.

b. A plane figure which can be covered without gaps or overlaps by  $n$  unit squares is said to have an area of  $n$  square units.

2010 3.MD.C.5 Recognize area as an attribute of plane figures and understand concepts of area measurement.

a. A square with side length 1 unit, called “a unit square,” is said to have “one square unit” of area, and can be used to measure area.

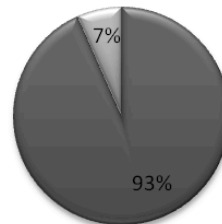

b. A plane figure which can be covered without gaps or overlaps by  $n$  unit squares is said to have an area of  $n$  square units.

2016 3.RL.6 Distinguish one's own point of view from that of the narrator or those of the characters.

2010 3.RL.6 Distinguish their own point of view from that of the narrator or those of the characters.

K-3 English Language Art Standards 2016

■ Little or no changes    ■ Additions or deletions

K-3 Math Standards 2016

■ Little or no changes    ■ Additions or deletions

Note: All codes for the standards are still the same as the original Common Core standards.

DON'T BE FOOLED. COMMON CORE HAS NOT BEEN STOPPED.
IT'S BEEN INSTITUTIONALIZED.
